

Connecting Across the Land

We have heard from the sector that many rural and remote professionals would benefit from the opportunity of building one on one relationships with others who share similar experiences, challenges and opportunities and get what it's like to be highly visible in a small community.

Small communities can be a wonderful source of support but wearing a professional hat brings a set of unique challenges. Connecting Across the Land is a confidential group from which organic relationships will be developed and that works in partnerships and together to support the development and sustainability of the sexual violence, women's health and wellbeing and domestic violence sector in remote regions.

Connecting Across the Land is a flexible program tailored with the participants. The content will be iteratively designed following one on one conversations between each of the participants and the facilitator, Eileen Heywood.

Through participation in this peer learning circle you will:

- Build your confidence, skills and practical experience in peer mentoring
- Establish ongoing relationships that extend beyond the life of the program and increase professional connectedness and sustainability
- Enhance your skills in using a range of platforms and tools to enable ongoing professional connections

Would you like greater access to support, debriefing and supportive listening?

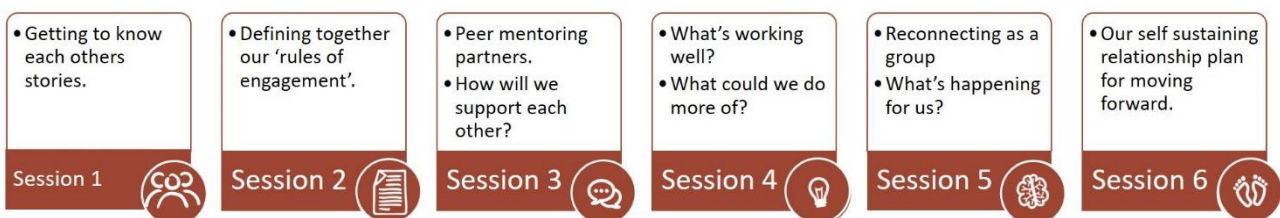

Would you find it helpful to build authentic connections with like-minded others in the sector outside of your community?

Would you find it supportive to have a flexible group and process that enabled this for you?

Yes? Connecting Across the Land is for you!

What's involved?

Peer conversations and groups including 19 Aug, 2 Sept, 30 Sept, 28 Oct, 25 Nov, 9 Dec.
